Different Quality of Oil Painting Reproductions

Many new clients are wondering about different quality levels of oil painting reproductions, we have been always asked the difference between top, high, medium and commercial quality of oil painting reproductions. The difference lies on the fact who paints the order and the time consuming effects the artist may need to take on each painting. Our best and professional artists paint all top quality oil paintings, the reproductions will resemble the original in the color, details and proportion nearly 90%-95%, while as high quality reproduction oil painting is painted by our experienced artists and about 80% nearly as same as original, medium quality reproduction painted by amateur artists, the oil painting reproductions may not be able to resemble the original as good as top quality reproduction, but in order to bring you satisfied artworks, we work with the artist to inspire them and educate them to maintain the quality and accuracy. As for commercial oil painting reproductions, it is very cheap and the detail is not so exact to speed paint quickly.
